

These parts are supplied high voltage which exceeds 250v .

These parts have special characteristics important for microwave leakage . When replacing any of those parts use only manufacturers specified parts .